EXPERIENCE

Chimes coding camp:

Started on 2021/2/28 and I have trained for 6 months to become a full-stack developer.

The course was intense, I studied the way of web design for six months, five days a week, every day from nine in the morning until four in the evening, and in the end there was a project that was a website design

PROJECT

Any book: any book is a website for exchanging, donating, and selling books.

The user can create an account and post a book on his profile With contact information like his email address and a picture of the book with some information about the book's status.

The web application has many sections :

1. Section for university books
2. Section for the books that are for sale
3. Section for the books that for donation
